

This is a mid-month special newsletter for our many original old Biggin Hill'ite members. I apologise for sending this separately from the normal end of month edition, but it is somewhat date critical for those that might remember him.

It is with sadness that I report the death a week ago of one the the old Biggin Hill'ites from the 60's and 70's - Bert Sadler.

I am told that Bert, who would have been 80 on 31st March, instructed at Flairavia alongside John George and Cliff Hards. In those distant days he, along with the other instructors of the day at Flairavia, taught Honor Blackman (who was one of the stars of the Bond film "Goldfinger") to fly in order that she could more realistically play the part in the film. I believe he also may have had some involvement in other films such as 633 Squadron, etc.

Bert's cremation and service is to be held at 10am on 1st April 2011 at Eltham Crematorium (also known as Falconwood), Crown Woods Way, Eltham, London, SE9 2AZ. All that knew him would be most welcome to attend..
